PRINCIPAL'S Corner

Dear Parents,

From the depths of winter, cabin fever and a welcome snow day we enter March ready for spring. This month brings a number of student activities that are hallmarks of Regina.

- The Harvest for Hunger campaign, which this year includes alums, is the event our students singled out as most characteristic of the Regina spirit, the one they wanted to break all past records as we make Regina's last year the best year.
- Opening this weekend, our school play features a heroine who is very like a Regina girl: beautiful but more preoccupied with learning than appearance, courageous and strong enough to be called stubborn, unique and unconventional, generous when her heart is touched, and able to transform dark situations by the power of her influence. Beauty and the Beast showcases the varied talents of our many uniquely gifted students, alums, faculty and parents.
- Our basketball team is entering the grueling month of postseason play that challenges players and fans to stay focused. Their hard work and team loyalty show in every game.
- Our mock trial team advances to regional competition, our pre-engineering robot makes its debut, and the long weeks of preparation outside of the spotlight are suddenly visible and acknowledged.
- The clown ministry presentation of Stations at the end of the month leads us into Holy Week and the mystery of death and rebirth that marks all of our lives as Christians and as a Regina community.

We know that the snow piles will probably remain throughout all of March but the energy of young life blossoming before our eyes makes it spring at Regina. May you celebrate Lent and spring with joyful anticipation of Easter blessings.

Sincerely,

Sr. Margaret Korman

Look for information in an up-coming mailing.

SADD Speaker: Richard Gallaspie March 9 at 10:00 AM

On March 9, SADD and the Dad's Club will sponsor an assembly with speaker Richard Gallaspie. Richard was a successful high school athlete from Wapakoneta, Ohio who made the decision to drive under the influence of alcohol following a prom party.

His car struck a telephone pole breaking his neck and C6-C7 vertebrae. That decision changed his life and today he is trying to help others make positive choices.

Richard will speak at 10:00 AM in the auditorium. Parents are invited and urged to attend. SADD would like to thank the Dad's Club for their support.

Richard spoke here seven years ago and was well received by the students and staff. We are happy he can return to speak to our Regina students.
